

THE RABBIT WHO FOUND A

FRIEND

A Story By Sophia Akua (Age 6)

Summer 2012

THE RABBIT WHO FOUND A FRIEND

Once upon a time there was a rabbit she was a girl. Her name was Lucy. she was five years old. me and Lucy were watching TV. It was funny. Then we went for a walk.

The rabbit saw something. She went to go see. It was a ball. Then she heard something . She heard this: "Where's my ball?" The rabbit saw a bird. "Here it is!" said the rabbit. The bird said, "Is it red?" "Yes!" said the rabbit. "Let's play soccer with the red ball." said the bird. "Okay" said the rabbit "I'm great at soccer"

So the bird and the rabbit played soccer.

The bird scored one goal and the rabbit scored 800 goals! So the rabbit won. The rabbit asked the bird if he could help him get home. The bird said yes but the bird had to think of a way to help the rabbit get home. The bird thought and thought... "I know" said the bird. I can look for his house. I will fly up and look for his house but I will have to know what it looks like.

The rabbit said his house was Reddish and it was made out of brick and the roof was made out of wood. He said they painted the roof orange. The bird said "Thank you! Now I know where you live" the bird said "Wait! Here is my phone number so you can call me whenever you want." The rabbit said "Thank you!" When they got home the rabbits owner said to the bird "Do you want to have dinner with us?" "Yes," said the bird "but I have to ask my mom and dad first."

The bird said to his parents "Can I stay for dinner at the rabbits house?" "Yes" said the birds mom and dad. "I can stay! I can stay!" said the bird. The rabbit said "Yeah! yeah! Come on in!"

The rabbit had carrots for dinner and the bird had birdseed for dinner. Then they played hide and seek. The bird hid on the ceiling but that rabbit said it wasn't fair because the rabbit can't fly. The rabbit hid behind the kitchen drawers.

The bird's mom came to get him. "Why can't I stay for a little longer? How about if the rabbit comes to my house?" said the bird. " Yes" said the birds mom. So the rabbit went to the birds house.

When they were at the birds house they played soccer again but this time the bird scored 10 goals and the rabbit scored seven goals so the bird won. Then the rabbit went home.

The End